About Parlimen Malaysia

Malaysia practices Parliamentary Democracy with Constitutional Monarchy and His Majesty The King as the Paramount Ruler. The Federal Constitution was legislated with the setting up of conditions for this system to exist. One of the characteristics of Parliament Democracy is the separation of powers into three parts which are the Legislative, Judiciary and Executive.

As a country with a Constitutional Monarchy, it is therefore allocated by the Constitution, the institutions of His Majesty The King, the hereditary Rulers of the nine states and the Council of Malay Rulers that the hereditary Malay Rulers have the power to safeguard the customs and traditions of the Malays and the administration of Islamic religion in each state. His Majesty The King is the Head of the religion of Islam for the states of Penang, Malacca, Sabah, Sarawak and the Federal Territories.

PARLIMEN MALAYSIA

INTRODUCTION

There is a saying that goes, "Imagination is the highest form of research". Given the prevailing challenges and probably in the near future, the expectations that people put on a researcher is high and mounting. The days where most things are routine and predictable are long gone.

"Leadership Masterclass for Researchers" is a customised leadership programme for researchers at the Research Unit, Parlimen Malaysia. The researchers mainly support the lawmakers in both houses in their preparation of parliamentary debates and policy-related engagements with stakeholders at home and abroad. Though the researchers have their respective focus areas, the organisation of research activities can be fluid and cross-functional, and this requires sound leadership abilities.

PROGRAMMES OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of the FULL programme, participants would be able to:

1. Form perspectives on the role of a leader as a researcher; and
2. Reflect on their current respective personal efforts and link them to the new perspectives.
